Helpful Hints

Follow these helpful hints to make your party a success... from decorations, food and beverages to hospitality, food safety and cleanup.

Hospitality

Greet your guests at the door and let them know how much you value their company. Try to spend as much time as you can with each guest and introduce them to one another to make them feel more at ease.

Decorations

Paper goods and favors should tie in together, along with balloons and floral arrangements. Candles can also add a festive appeal, however use only unscented candles near the food areas. Always keep safety in mind, and place candles where guests will not be able to knock them over or brush against them with their clothing.

Food

Add simple garnishes to make your dishes more appealing. Use fresh herb sprigs, orange or lemon wedges, small cluster of grapes or edible flowers.

Fresh vegetables make great serving containers. Hollow out peppers, tomatoes, red cabbage or small squash and place dips inside or use to hold carrot or celery sticks.

Large plates of food will look messy once they begin to empty. Use several small plates or trays instead when serving buffet style and replace with full plates as needed.

Fill deep dish bowls above the rim for eye appeal. Also, foods look more striking when framed in a complete ring. Create a circle of crackers or fresh, colorful vegetables around a cheese ball.

Beverages

If you are having an area where guests can help themselves to their own beverages, be sure to have plenty of ice. You could use the typical ice bucket, or you could place cans and bottles in a large metal tub (and replenish as needed, because it only takes 20 minutes for the beverages to chill). Don't forget the ice scoop or tongs. If you want to add pizzazz to ice cubes, try freezing lemonade, iced tea or juice in ice cube trays.

Place a corkscrew and bottle opener next to the beverages. Have cocktail napkins, cups, glasses and swizzle sticks available. To keep the area tidy, place a receptacle nearby for the loose bottle caps.

Don't forget the garnishes. Lemon and lime wedges are a must have. Not only are they used for cocktails, but they are also a nice touch to water and soda. Depending on the variety of cocktails you may be serving, you may want to also include green olives, celery stalks, maraschino cherries with stems, salt and onions. If you are serving hot cider, tea or coffee, use a cinnamon stick as a swizzle stick.

Food Safety

Preparing:
While preparing food items, make sure all utensils and work surfaces are kept clean.

Use separate cutting boards and utensils for uncooked meat.

All perishable ingredients should be kept refrigerated until needed.

Refrigerate or freeze all prepared foods as soon as possible.

Serving:
Use place cards to label food, guests like to know what they are eating, especially if they follow restricted diets or have food allergies.

Do not bake everything at once, and keep the remainder refrigerated until needed.

Place enough food out to last 30 minutes, and replenish as needed.

Eliminate double dipping by placing a spoon or knife in dips to encourage guests to put the dip or spread on their plate.

Do not leave perishable food out at room temperature for more than two hours. Discard after two hours, and do not re-refrigerate or re-freeze.

Cleanup

Do not allow your guests to wander around with foodpicks and crumpled napkins in hand, provide small receptacles throughout the party area.

If your guests offer to help with the cleanup, let them. You'll appreciate it in the morning.

Guesstimates

1 lb. of ice per person.

3-4 cocktail napkins per person to cover beverages and appetizers for a 2-3 hour event.

2 dinner napkins per person for a dinner party or buffet.

2 drinking cups per person for a dinner party or 4 drinking cups per person for a cocktail party.

Offer four different types of appetizers for a party of 20 guests, add more varieties as the party gets larger. Allow 8-10 appetizers per person during a 2-3 hour party.

Party Planning Schedule

Planning a party can be overwhelming, that's why we created this handy schedule for you to follow.
